Cloud brings you closer to a heavenly night's sleep

The reason why white bed linen is so stunning is not the lack of colour – but it is the sparing of it. White is an absolute neutral, it is fresh and delicate, and gives a feeling of simplicity and wholeness. Above all – crisp, elegant, delicate white – is always to find in a luxury hotel bedroom, and it is easy to love and wonderful to enjoy.

You can never have too much of the colour blue. Blue is an essential bedroom colour - it facilitates relaxation for body and soul, and creates a sense of calmness that we often seek to find when going to sleep. Blue is a classic and consistent colour and stays desirable year after year. Us Scandinavians embrace blue in all shades - in fashion, interior and bed linen - it gives a feeling of home.

Sand - a lighter shade of brown with a warm and goldish glow is a gorgeous mix of earthy and glamorous. Brown is a friendly - organic and approachable colour - gold is sensual and sensitive - and as a blend - it becomes deep and intense. The colour of sand adds a richness to the higher quality satin and will complement any bedroom perfectly

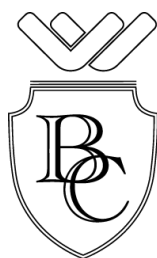

This radiant colour – full of energy and with enthusiasm for life – helps us to look at the bright side of life. The colour combines the physical energy and stimulation of red with cheerfulness of yellow and is a happy colour. Colours have impact on our lives
- you can change any bedroom with the colour langusta
- probably in more ways than you would imagine.

Any shades of grey is neutral and the ones that go deeper are classic, elegant, but still a bit mysterious. You can add any colour accessory and that will look amazing. The bedroom can have any wallpaper or paint that reflects your preferences and personality – you can not fail. Cloud in anthracite colour is absolutely fabulous – and a bit sexy – in a masculine way.
